

Kerlink Teams Up with DEPS, One of Ukraine's Largest Network Integrators, to extend LoRaWAN market in Europe

PRESS RELEASE

Thorigné-Fouillard, France and Kyiv, Ukraine – April 16, 2020, 6:00 p.m. CET – Kerlink (AKLK – FR0013156007), a specialist in solutions dedicated to the Internet of Things (IoT), and DEPS, one of Ukraine's largest integrators and distributors of telecommunication equipment, today announced that DEPS will supply Kerlink's IoT equipment and software to Ukrainian local IoT providers, as well as major verticals such as smart cities, smart buildings, smart agriculture, industrial IoT, logistics and asset tracking.

Kerlink, a leading provider of solutions for designing, launching and operating public and private LoRaWAN® IoT networks, offers a comprehensive portfolio of industrial-grade network equipment, best-of-breed network-core, operations, and management software, and value-added applications. The company has more than 120,000 installations in 69 countries, in all the primary IoT verticals.

Established in 1991, DEPS specializes in design, implementation and maintenance of integrated communication solutions for companies across multiple industries, while representing leading global manufacturers of telecommunication equipment in Ukraine.

"This distribution agreement with DEPS, a major system integrator and distributor in Ukraine, gives Kerlink access to a large client portfolio, opens new distribution channels and expands our presence in the Eastern European market," said Vincent Blanchard, Kerlink's key account manager. "DEPS is well positioned to promote, deliver and service LoRaWAN® networks for our joint partners."
